

Readers for this issue

Pr Lee Haring, Pr Em. of English at Brooklyn College, City University of New York, USA.

Pr Eileen Lohka, Department of French, Italian and Spanish, University of Calgary, Canada.

Pr Serge Rivière, Pr Em. University of Limerick, Ireland, Mahatma Gandhi Institute, Moka, Mauritius.

Notes on Authors

Sonia Kotiah is Lecturer in English at the University of Mauritius where she teaches undergraduate and graduate courses. Her interests lie in canonical, postmodern and world literatures. She has also published articles on Latin American and contemporary British fiction.

Nandini Sahu is Associate Professor of English, Indira Gandhi National Open University, New Delhi, India. She is a poet and writer and has published several books and collections of poems. Her research interests include Folklore and Culture Studies and American Literature. She edits the Interdisciplinary Journal of Literature and Language, New Delhi.

Kumari Issur is Associate Professor, University of Mauritius. She specializes in Francophone literature of the Creole islands of the Caribbean and the Indian Ocean. She has published several articles and edited several books and journal issues. Her current research is on the impact of globalisation in francophone literature.

Amenah Jahangeer – Chojoo is Associate Professor, Mahatma Gandhi Institute, Mauritius. Her research focus is on Mauritian Studies, particularly on Muslims in the 19th and 20th century, and has authored several books and articles. Her current interest is in demographic and social history of Mauritius. She has edited several books and issues of the Journal of Mauritian Studies.